Under existing circumstances, But there is another matter that suggests itself

But there is another matter that suggests itself here, upon which a word or two may not be amiss. In nearly one-half of the States of this Union African slavery exists as a strictly domestic institution. With it neither the federal government nor the non-slaveholding States have any right to interfere, directly or indirectly. In our vast national domain—the federal territories acquired by the common blood and trensure—the American States and people, North and South, have equal rights. The slave States have no right, when new members are to be admitted into the confederacy, to make slavery a condition. As little right have the non-slaver States to make anti-slavery constitutions a condition of admission. The only just, constitutional, and safe policy is, to hold the comconstitutional, and safe policy is, to hold the com-mon territory as the common property of the States, whither people from all sections may immigrate with their property of whatever kind, and when sufficiently populated to require the formation of new States, to come into the Union, "on an equal footing with the original States;" that is to say, for the people of the new States to frame and establish their own domestic institutions, with or without slavery, as they please. This, we repeat, is the only safe and equitable policy to be pursued, and such is now, by the late action of Congress, the supremo law of the land. Let it remain so, and let the law be sacredly observed and respected, both by the States and the people. Then, and not otherwise, will the people of the North and the South fraternise as brethren, and our national Union and liberties be maintained and perpetnated. No man of common discernment can be so sted. No man of common discornment can be so blind as not to see, that, if anti-slavery intermeddling and agitation becontinued, the Union thereby sectionalized, and the angry and senseless strife be kept up between the northern and southern States, the inevitable consequence must be a final, perhaps, a speedy dissolution of the our national Union. This all true patriots must deprecate as the greatest of all possible calamities that could befall us, short of a central consolidated despotism. The cessation, therefore, of anti-slavery agitation.

praiseworthy undertaking for those ministers and people of the disrupted Protestant sects, who think that the cause of God, of Protestant civilization, it was also foreseen, that it would be difficult, if part in the movement without incurring the displeasure of those of their flocks who might be found to disapprove of the thing. Hence, the members control the future destines of this hitherto free, nuited, and happy country? Why not have the churches of the country organized, in this respect, in harmony with the principles of our civil or pulitical system? I livide and sectionalize our Protesperfect in every respect.

SATURDAY. - AUGUST 18, 1855.

We published yesterday, from the Madison Banner, an editorial boldly avowing that the selfstyled Americans were determined that the foreign-born citizen shall not vote. He is to give up his right, if it requires fire and steel to make him do it. A correspondent indorses the views of the editor -thas:

editor—thus;

Mr. Distron: Your leader of the 18th list, lu tone and sentiment, I consider as expressive of the sentiment of the American people. Between naturalized citizens, and loreigners, I understand you to make a marked difference. That is true, as every naturalized intellectual citizen with at since admit. Does not every man who lays any claim to intellect know that American ought to, can, and will, at all hazards, tale American. Thus, as I understand, is the import of your leader this morning. Our country at present is used with denago-guest native as well as foreign, who are encouraging the animosity that now exists between American citizens and loreigners, and would see this glorious Republic sink into unfuterable unit if they had any promise of any elevation from its downfall. It is good and timely advice you give the foreigners, to reher and here, or at least, without grumbing, return their mative land. AN AMERICAN CITIZEN.

When this work had been well done, Kentucky than any immigrant from Europe. the mob at the polls began to extend its operations; to parade the streets in search of victims of indignity, insult, and violence. Then the shooting began. The mob from the Eighth Ward came up to Chapel and Tenth streets, on Main. There were the Irish-the game these blood-hounds were after; and here is one of the Louisville Journal's that they were actually engaged in the mob, but they were present. Their death was the excuse for a general war and indiscriminate slanghter.

Two Americans innocently shot down by the bloody Irish! Rally, Americans I was the cry. Hudson was killed afterwards by an Irishman of whom he was in hot pursuit, and who was himself which is a ready recorded. I intended to have mentioned other cases which have killed by the erowd.

The whole story is well understood here in Louisville. The deeds of the morning, gotten up by concert, whetted the appetite for blood, and produced the evening's deeds of horror. The editor of the Banner and his correspondent must go further: foreigners must not only not vote, but

> The editor of the Louisville Journal ha now found out that about thirty Americans were shet. We have only heard of two Americans killed that were not in the mob making assaults upon other people. They, it is reported, were shot by an Irishman with a gun, and shot without a niotive, that any one can see from the affidavits of an eye-witness. The thirty shot will not turn up,

The Americans were on the side-walk, quietly talking; none of them were intoxicated nor disturring any one. I observed three Inshmen cone from McDonald's grocery, on the north street, and pass through the crowd, down Tenth, frowards Market; after turning round in Tenth street, about the time they reactived Market—say, within five minites—they returned. As they returned, and without a word, one of the Inshmen brushed against one of the serowd, and, I think, then some one struck at him, and without a word, one of the Inshmen commenced firing, and shot at least twenty times; each of the Irishmen had a pair of revolvers, and then the whole three commenced firing, and shot at least twenty times; each of the Irishmen had a pair of revolvers, and they returned back to McDonald's grocery, where they came from there were an ammber of Irishmen standing in and near the door of McDonald's grocery, where they came from there were a transing one way and some another.

The reader will see in another column a card from the Banner, published at Madison, Ind. It is plain and explicit. Three Irishmen passing along were attacked; they were armed and made battle. At this place Rhodes and Graham were killed. It is not, indeed, ascertained that they were actually engaged in the mob, but tended to have mentioned other cases which have come under my notice, but this communication is

To all who Value their Sight MR. SOLOMONS: ABOUT FOUR months since I purchased a pair your spectacles, and at that time could not read without them. I now find my sight so much improved by their use, that I can read ordinary newspaper print without them as well as I could before I used spectacles. LOTISVILLE, June 16, 1805.

Louisville, June 16, 1855.

Mr. Solomons: Dear Sir: Having been deprived of the pleasure of reading or writing for the last two years and not having been enabled to procure any spectacles with which I could see any better than without, and which also immediately produced pain and uneasiness. I was induced, by your advertisement, to call alyons office and purchased a pair of your improved spectacles, with which I can see to read the finest print with perfect case and comfort; I can also see with the same exset to go about my regular business. JESSE HOLLIDAY.

Mr. Solomons: Having noticed your advertisement in the Louisville and Lexington papers, I called at your office with my wife to purchase for her a pair of your improved spectacles, with which, I am happy to say, she can see to thread the linest needle, (which she han not done before in five years,) or see and read for any length of time by day or candle-light, as well as she even could. She has purchased several pairs of spectacles it, the last five years, but they invariably caused the eyes to become weak and tired after using for a short time. No amount would induce her to part with those she purchased from you.

It is confidently stated that Louis Napoleon in person will command in the forthcoming campaign in Modavia and Russian Poland. The new levy of 140,000 is destined for this field of action, and seil supersede the Austrian army of occupation. The object of this campaign will be the erection of a Ponsh republic comprising Volhynia, Poland, and Bessarabia. In case Prussia dissents, an advance made by an Anglo-French army upon her cis-Rhenish provinces and the Baltic fleet, will keep her in check; while Lounbardy and Hungary are moved up to block the interference of Austria. The end of all this will be an empire of republics.

keep her in check; while Lombardy and Hungary are moved up to block the interference of Austria. The end of all this will be an empire of republics. Turkey will be obliterated from the map of Europe and form a nest of Byzantine States, into which Greece and perhaps Hungary may fall. The last great European war commenced with republicanism and ended with confirmed monarchy; this present struggle commences with a battle of the monarchs, and will end with confirmed republics.

Fatal Case of Hydrophobia.—A medical friend of ours, yesterday morning, gave us the particulars of a case of hydrophobia, which he was called upon last Monday to attend. A lad named Joseph Graham, aged 14, residing with his mother on Phillippa street, was five weeks ago bitten by a dog. The wound was in the hand. It healed, and no further notice was taken of it. On Monday morning last, however, he was taken down with symptome of hydrophobia. The physician was called, but saw that the case was hopeless. The patient was perfectly frantic, until a few houre before his death, which occurred shortly before 1 allowed the suffer of where the contravely with said alley 30 feet, thence parallel who suffer the air to reach him, and of course abborred the such to of water. About an hour before death of the suffer of the Louisville and Shelby ville turnpike road, at the first line southwardly to said road, and with a county, book 92, page 181 and 2. Also, 30 feet of Groun out the northwardly to said road, and with a county, book 92, page 181 and 2. Also, 30 feet of Groun out the northwardly to said turnpike road the suffer of water. About an hour before death which of water. About an hour before death which was the suffer of the Louisville and Shelby ville turnpike road, at the order counterleit.—We have been shown a dangerous counterleit on the Bank of Cape Fear, which from the quality and appearance of the paper is liable to deceive those who do not examine it very particularly. It appears worn, but the paper is exactly of the same quality of the genuine. It is exactly of the same quality of the genuine. It is exactly of the same quality of the genuine. It is exactly of the same quality of the genuine. It is marked Aa., and mado payable by D. N. Davis, or bearer, at Salisbury. The name of the Cashier there is D. A. Davis; the date is 1837, and the signatures of the President and Cashier are very well included, although the ink is rather pale. It will be observed, however, that H. R. Savage, Cashier, and Thos. H. Wright; President, is wrong, since these gen lemen did not occuy such positions in 15-77, nor for some years after.

The engraving is rather coarse, the lettering is not perfectly straight, and the female figure in the centre is badly abactd, and the arm particularly defective. The figure on the upper corner on the right end is also very coarsely executed.
